

Freshwater Science

MARCH 2024

VOLUME 43

NUMBER 1

FEATURED ARTICLE

Substantial pulses of aquatic insects emerge from tidal freshwaters along the James River Estuary, Virginia, USA

Samantha L. Rogers, Lesley P. Bulluck, and Paul A. Bukaveckas

IN THIS ISSUE

Hydrogeomorphology and fish assemblages

Crayfish assemblages in agricultural streams

Landscape variables and burrowing crayfish

Nuisance blooms of Didymosphenia and insect communities

Water abstraction and macroinvertebrates

Debris dams and trash retention in urban streams